Dear Senator:

The Hominy, Okla., lady puts her finger on several very pertinent questions in this latest letter from her. To be very frank, I have been wondering about these matters myself ever since the killing took place.

It seems to me there can be no question that there were fatal gaps and deficiencies in the security set-up and arrangements in Dallas -- from top to bottom.

Also note the second last paragraph about the Commission's report. This confirms your strong intuitive feeling that the report is going to be the subject of intense and doubtless very controversial scrutiny -- to say nothing about comment.

Sincerest regards,

Robert S. Allen
